

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT, &c., OF
CAPTAIN JOHN SMITH.

Mr. CHARLES DEANE read the "last will and testament" of Captain John Smith,* of Virginia and New-England

* From this will it seems certain, that Smith left no wife or children; and it is very probable that he was a bachelor. Mr. Charles Campbell, in his "History of the Colony and Ancient Dominion of Virginia," published in 1860, (at p. 83,) cites a recent book entitled "A Year with the Turks," by Warington W. Smyth, A.M., London, the writer of which claims descent from our Captain Smith. It would seem to be a safe proposition for any one bearing the name of Smith, to say that "John Smith" was his ancestor; but it might be more difficult to demonstrate, that a certain John Smith, who lived two or three hundred years ago, bore that relation.

The following letter from our Corresponding Member, H. G. Somerby, Esq., of London, will find an appropriate place here:—

LONDON, January 22, 1867.

MY DEAR MR. DEANE,—I have much pleasure in sending you an abstract of the will of Captain John Smith's father. I have not a full copy; but I hope to visit Lincoln again before long, when I shall copy it verbatim et literatim.

I send also an extract from the parish register of Willoughby, which was given to me by the clergyman there. I have not seen the register myself, which I hope I may do sometime, in order to copy all the entries of the name of Smith.

CHARLES DEANE, Esq. I remain very truly yours, H. G. SOMERBY.

"George Smith, of Willoughby, near Alford, County Lincoln. Will dated March 30, 1596.† Desires to be buried in the church of Willoughby. Bequeaths to the Right Honorable my Lord Willoughby, under whom I have many years lived as his poor tenant, as a token of my dutiful good-will, the best of my two years' old colts. Wife Alice, whom he commends to his eldest son, John, to honor and love during his life; younger son, Francis Smith; daughter Alice; kinsman, Robert Smith. Appoints his sons John and Francis executors, and George Mettham supervisor. Witnessed by Thomas Sanbrough and Bartholomew Lawrence."

From the Parish Register of Willoughby.

"John, the son of George Smith, was baptized the sixth day of January, 1579."

† Is there not an error in the date of this will as here given? Smith says "he was about thirteen years of age" when his parents died. In March, 1596, he was in his seventeenth year. "True Travels," pp. 1, 2.—C.D.

memory, from a copy which had been communicated to him by Mr. Henry Brooks Adams, the son and private secretary of our distinguished associate, the Hon. Charles Francis Adams, minister at the Court of St. James from the United States. Mr. Deane said that it would be seen that Captain Smith made his mark, instead of signing his name to this instrument; which must be explained by the fact, that it was executed on the day of his death, namely, the 21st of June, 1631.

Transcribed from the original Register in the Prerogative Office of Canterbury, June 17, 1862. — C. H.

Mr. Deane said, that, when he was in London last summer, he saw, at the Public-Record Office, the letter addressed to Lord Bacon by Captain Smith, in 1618, referred to on p. 21, No. 42, of Sainsbury's "Calendar of Colonial Papers." The body of the letter was probably not written by Smith; but the signature, of which a fac-simile is here given, is, in all probability, his.

Mr. Deane also stated, that he saw, at the library of the Society of Antiquaries, in London, in one of the volumes of "Broadsides," under the year 1623, a copy of Captain Smith's printed prospectus of his "Generall Historie," first printed in 1624. In this prospectus, after describing the book, and giving a list of its contents, Smith concludes thus: —

These observations are all I haue for the expenses of a thousand pound, and the losse of eighteen yeares of time, besides all the travells, dangers, miseries & incumberances for my countries good, I haue endured gratis; and had I not discouered and liued in the midst of these parts, I could not possibly haue collected the substantial trueth from such an infinite number of variable Relations, that would make a volume of at least a thousand sheetes: and this is composed in lesse then eighty sheetes, besides the three Maps, which will stand me neere in an hundred pounds, which summe I cannot disbursse: nor shall the Stationers haue the copy for nothing. Therefore I humbly entreat your Honour, either to adventure, or give me what you please towards the impression and I will be both accountable & thankful: not doubting but that the story will give you satisfaction and stirre vp a double new life in the Adventurers when they shall see plainly the causes of all those defailements, & how they may be amended.

And so I humbly rest.

While referring to these memorials of Captain Smith, Mr. Deane took occasion to say, that he paid a visit to St. Sepulchre's Church, in London, under the pavement of which the remains of the hero were buried; but he was not able to see the stone placed over those remains, as the floor of the church at the time was covered with a carpet of "kamptulicon," which concealed all the monuments. The epitaph to his memory, however, it is understood, cannot now be deciphered upon its tablet. It was fortunately preserved by an early chronicler, and was printed in Munday and Dyson's edition of Stow's "Survey of London," published in 1633, two years after the death of Smith. As the inscription has not been often reprinted in this country, Mr. Deane thought it might not be deemed inappropriate to copy it here, in the precise form in which it was originally printed.

This Table is on the South side of the Quire in Saint Sepulchers, with this Inscription.

To the Living Memory of his deceased Friend, Captaine IOHN
SMITH, who departed this mortall life on the 21. day of Iune, 1631.
with his Armes, and this Motto,
Accordamus, vincere est vivere.

Here lies one conquer'd that hath conquer'd Kings, Subdu'd large Territories,
and done things
Which to the World
impossible would seeme,
But that the truth
is held in more esteeme.
Shall I report
his former service done
In honour of his God
and Christendome :
How that he did
divide from Pagans three,
Their Heads and Lives,
Types of his Chivalry :
For which great service
in that climate done,
Brave Sigismundus
(King of Hungarion)

Did give him as a Coat
of Armes to weare,
Those conquer'd heads
got by his Sword and Speare ?
Or shall I tell
of his adventures since,
Done in Virginia,
that large Continence :
How that he subdu'd
Kings unto his yoke,
And made those Heathen flie,
as wind doth smoke ;
And made their Land,
being of so large a Station,
A habitation
for our Christian Nation :
Where God is glorifi'd
their wants suppli'd, Which else for necessaries
might have di'd ?
But what availes his Conquest,
now he lyes
Inter'd in earth,
a prey for Wormes and Flies ?
O may his soule
in sweet Elizium sleepe, Vntil the Keeper
that all soules doth keepe, Returne to Iudgement,
and that after thence,
With Angels he may have his recompence.

Captaine John Smith, sometime Gover-nour of Virginia, and Admirall of New England.
